

Possible cancer causing agent coming to a school near you.

Volume 3 Edition 4

October 23, 2013

The Obama Administration is promoting wireless internet access in schools. Click here for President Obama's statement from the Washington Post. The intent is for each child during the school day to do school work on an iPad and/or laptop with WiFi. What they are not telling the parents is that the World Health Organization's International Agency for Research on Cancer has determined that pulsed radio frequency radiation, i.e., the radiation being emitted from wireless technology is possibly cancer causing. The radiation was given a class 2B rating. The same classification they have given to DDT, lead, exhaust fumes and chloroform. No government, nor parents, would allow these toxins to be in the classrooms. Why then, is the government promoting the use of wireless radiation in schools when it has been determined to be possibly carcinogenic? It is obviously a potential health hazard to our children and teachers.

More people every day are feeling the effects of this toxin. The emails and the calls to the Center for Safer Wireless keep increasing with people asking for advice about how to lessen their symptoms of radiation sickness caused by wireless technology. The most common complaints are headaches, insomnia, heart palpitations and tinnitus. We also hear more about children having seizures, particularly those in homes that have implemented a wireless environment.

Now, the school systems will be exposing our kids to wireless radiation for seven or more hours each school day. There are more than 4,000 studies showing biological damage on living organisms from this toxin. Our children's reproductive systems could be greatly harmed by this wireless implementation. These studies: Effect of wireless radiation on sperm; and Effect of wireless radiation on ovaries show how wireless radiation is impacting our children. Sadly, not only our children, but their unborn children may be harmed by this government initiative.

The federal government is not acknowledging the vast amount of peer reviewed studies showing that wireless radiation damages the human body. The American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) has requested that the Federal Communications Commission(FCC) reassess radiation standards because "Current FCC standards do not account for the unique vulnerability and use patterns specific to pregnant women and children". The Center for Safer Wireless is informing school administrators that we don't want our kids exposed to a possible cancer causing toxin. Please watch the following videos to learn more: Channel 5 news video about wireless radiation in schools; and Children and wireless devices . The reading rack has additional information you can read and learn about children and wireless radiation. We are emphasizing that that if iPads must be used they should be used in airplane mode and "wired" should be chosen over "wireless" in classrooms. Schools need to keep our children

Introducing our new Medical Advisory Board

The Center for Safer Wireless is pleased to announce its Medical Advisory Board members. David Carpenter, MD; Kerry Crofton, PhD; Stephen Sinatra, MD FAAC; and Charles Battig, MD. We are honored to have such a distinguished group be a part of our organization.

Please help us do more!

The Center for Safer Wireless needs financial support to fight the wireless tsunami and protect our children. We want to create specific brochures to be sent to the Education Community. This requires money for printing and mailing. We also want to place them on our website for you to download for your own use and distribution. Please help us with this effort.

Every dollar you give will help us get the message out to the school systems that their job is to protect our children as well as educate them and this means keeping DDT, lead, exhaust fumes, chloroform and wireless radiation out of the classroom.

Without your help we cannot protect the children. Please send your tax deductible donation to us now!
